Byron Darden is a global executive coach to leaders at the world's most prestigious Fortune 500 corporations like American Express, Blue Cross, Capital One, Disney and the NBA (just to name a few).

He is a consultant at the highly acclaimed Harvard Business School for both the MBA and Executive Education programs, Columbia University's Business School, Darden School of Business, Duke University and Northwestern University's Kellogg School of Management.

Byron blends his unique experience as a professional actor, championship level figure skating coach and businessman.

A former professional figure skater and a 30-year master coach to Olympic-level skaters, Byron learned the rigor, discipline, and training regimen needed to compete and win at a world-class level. He was also a principal skater with Ice Capades with Dorothy Hamill, Jayne Torvill, Christopher Dean and Debi Thomas.
